THE continued drought prevailing so widely in the North of China is beginning to arouse most serious alarm with regard to the crops, a failure of which, it is anticipated by many, anxiety expressed is certainly reasonable and corruption and oppression for so long a nearly every district, all telling of actual or impending distress. Thus at Hankow it is districts, indeed, the rice has not yet been planted, and in others, where it has already lately experienced has withered it up to such a degree that fears are entertained of its utter tailure. will not tend to the preservation of peace and order. This will add to the thickly gathering tifficulties of the Chinese Government. .It may, perhaps, be able in a measure to meet the emergency by a generous distribution of rice, but it is out of its power, it is to be feared, to do more than alleviate the wideproad suffering which a partial failure of the crops always entails upon the dense and poverty-stricken population of the Central Kingdom. In view of the dependence of the people for their subsistence upon the rice struck the prosecutrix's shild on the head, and millet crops, it would be the soundest causing it to bleed. in many parts of China, and the people are just as little inclined as ever to attribute it to any but supernatural causes. There seems no doubt, however, that the trick is effected with great skill, for hitherto the perpetrators of the joke-if, indeed, it can so be termedhave never yet been caught in the act. At the city of Hungchow a great deal of consternation prevails. The children are, it appears, mere especially singled out as victims, probably because the outrage is more easily and safely carried out in their case. The epidemic among queues has fully begun o work in this city, as well as in cities between beré and Ningpo. Many persons are to be seen with the slip of yellow paper, having five mystic obaracters on it, braided in the quene. Placarda are posted and circulated, telling the people that persons are, by use of the black art, cutting off quenes, but that they may eacupe the mysterious shears by wearing the above-mentioned paper in the bair.

If any one suffers, he may, by recutting the remaining hair and putting the part clipped in some specified place, avoid death, which is said to follow in seven, twenty, or thirty days. And an official in Siso-sun, across the Taiont'ang River, has issued a proolamation in effect the same as the placard mentioned. Numerous cases are reported, but there are a few authenticated ones. A boy from one of the Mission Schools lost part of his quene, but knew nothing it till he reached home. A native Obristian also sow a boy who had lost his that day. Children seem to be the principal victims. Men may be seen on the street, with their

of Denmark, gives some interesting facts concorping a long-lost cargo of Newcastle grindstones. It states that on the 7th or 8th of May; 1882, a yessel was wrecked near Thisted, and that now the bull bas been found by a diving company. "All the information," says the writer, "that one now be obtained respecting her is that she was an English brig, that the crew, supposed to be nine, all perished with the exception of two, who drifted nellors on a piece of the after-deck, that the ourgo was coals, above them mill stones, and lead in blocks beneath. On the 27th March last a diving company found the apot where the ressel lies sunk, which is about 500 fathoms from the NORTH BRITISH AND MERCANTILE shore, in six fathome water, and recovered three blooks of lead. The diver noticed a number of blooks, and several milistones. The blocks are in good condition, and are marked W Blackett, and on the other side W. B., 1832." Seventy-three blooks in all have been saved. We learn from the Shipping Gazette that the vessel thus referred to was the Woodace, from Newcastle to St. Petersburg: She was a large brig, and was commanded by Captain Bur- MHE Undersigned, Agents at Hongkong for lington,-Northern Express.

The rink has been designed by Mr. John Gamzee. It was in the course of experiments on the production of artificial cold for the preservation of meat that he would now engage to put down twelve square miles of ice. Mr. Gamges simply condeness anlphuric acid under pressure. This on being released produces intense cold, which is transmitted to a tank filled with an uncongestable liquid-glycerine and water. This liquid, rendered much colder than ice, circulates through pipes laid on the floor of the rink, and covered with two or three inches of water. The pipes keeps the water constantly frozen, and on risks to ports in China, Japan, the Philipthe result is a perfect sheet of ice.

The Post Office of Victoria (Australia) having given notice to the General Post Office in London that articles of Jewellery received in that Colony are chargeable with Customs Duties, the undersigned considers it necessary to make this Regulation known to the Public, and to state that any letters or packets containing such articles sent through the Post are liable, with their contents, to be forfeited.

Many boxes of letters are received at the Post Office not sealed, that is to say, the box is fastened with scaling wax, but there is no impression of a seal. The attention of boxbolders is called to the necessity of carefully scaling such boxes with some recognisable saul, and of sending a Chitbook or receipt with them. The omission of the latter precantion leaves a doubt as to westher the contents of the box ever reached the Post Office; the omission of the former, as to whether part of them might not have been abstracted for the sake of the Postage Stamps.

There is a common belief in the existence of a Parcel Post by which such articles as Fana, Carlos, Silk-Dresses, Scarves, Jewellery, Artificial Teeth, &c., can be forwarded at low rates. It cannot be too distinctly stated that such things can only be sent as Letters, and the very BIVERPOOL AND BUNDON AND GLOBE cheapest rate is 12 cents per half ounce by Private Steamer. THE MONKEY AS A CITIZEN A most interesting branch of street zoology lies in the study of those animals which tween the drudges and the victims. I mean the class which includes the barreleggan mubbits, pigeons, and bantams in St. Andrew's street. St. Gilen's; in short, all those creatures which "fancy" or science dooms to penal servitude. At the head of these, of course, in right of his near relationship to man, comes the monkov. Considered as a citizen he occupies two positions in society. He is to be met with as the professional monkey who performs on the top of a barrel organ or a round table, and also as the monkey pur et simple the member of a happy family and the most miscrable brute in creation. In the latter capacity he is altogether out of his element, and it is only owing to his being reduced in circumstances or shaken in intellect that he is ever found in a position which affords no better field for his talents than nursing the albino rat or pulsuing entomological inquiries in his own or the dog's tail. But although that form of inquisitivensess which is called popular science may sometimes degrade him to the rank of a "common object," he was born a satirist. This is the monkey's natural mission and the end for which be submits to education and the When he dances a melanchely cavalier seul to "Old Dog . ray," when he holds out his cap for a balfpenny, and receives the gifts with a vicious grin, when he converts the southing bandvell in a wearon of offence against the nearest ragged boy, when he suffers his tail to dangle below his tartan petticoat (type of animal propensities breaking out through the transplage of civilisation); in all this he is merely saying.
